Dear Parents and Carers,

Please find information below regarding the upcoming World book Day commencing on 6th of March 2025. As with previous years, we invite children to dress up as their favourite character for the day. This is hugely successful and something of which children love to do. Please remember it is not mandatory to dress up or a necessity to purchase an outfit, many costumes can be created at a minimal cost. The outfits we have had in the past help create a real 'buzz' about the day and something we all love to see.

Leading up to World Book Day, we are setting a task for children and parents to complete (again, please do not feel that you must spend lots to create something spectacular). Last year there were some fantastic artwork pieces created at home which allowed our school to become vibrant with colour and creativity. This year, we are tasking children to think even further outside the box. Their task will be to create a 3D doorway or 3D window into another world inspired by the stories of which they read. Please see the pictures included at the bottom of this letter for inspiration. You could use natural-looking materials (ensure they will not rot) and combine this with a detailed story-themed backdrop to show that reading can allow us to enter magical worlds and wondrous places. The 3D element will bring the pieces to life and allow us to once again create some fantastic displays within school.

Thank you in advance for all help offered by parents to help children with their projects - it is greatly appreciated.

As part of World book Day, we will be delivering a variety of different activities for children throughout the day.

We look forward to children telling you about all the wonderful things they have done over the course of the day.

If you have any questions regarding World Book Day or costume ideas, please feel free to get in touch.

Kind regards,

Mr Partridge

We aim to link the artwork with what the children read and our spirituality approach of windows, mirrors and doors. Try to incorporate a backdrop of a child's favourite story and then decorate in the theme of a doorway, window or reflection of a mirror.
